

"Gardens for all Seasons"

Tuesday, February 13, 2018

8:45- 9:30 Registration and Refreshments

9:30 - 9:45 Welcome and Announcements

9:45 - 10:45 "Year Round Gardening" presented by Beth Bolles

Each season creates its own distinctive feel and appearance, and a well-designed garden includes plants that reflect a unique sense of place. There is no better place to reflect this than along the Coastal South. Watching a garden's character change with the seasons is part of the joy of gardening. Knowing what plants do best, when to plant them, along with a better understanding of our unique climate will determine your success. Join us to discover the wide variety and diversity of plants that call the Coastal South home.

10:45- 11:00 Break, refreshments

11:00 - 12:00 Breakout Session I

A. "Ornamental Grasses" presented by Carol Lord

Ornamental grasses have graced the natural landscapes of the earth. Now a variety of choices are available at local nurseries to add new dimension to any home landscape. Carol will share how to select and care for various ornamental grasses, and treat possible disease to which they are subject.

B. "See What Pops Up" presented by Jerry Patee

Many plants from around the world, both tropical and temperate growing zones, join our native and traditional plants in our back yards along the Coastal South to create a kaleidoscope of color and interest. We will be looking at a variety of these plants, which have found a home growing along the Gulf Coast. "Let's see what Pop's up!"

12:00 - 1:00 Lunch provided Raffle Basket drawing at 12:30. Lunch catered by Sonny's Barbeque.

1:00 – 2:00 Breakout Session II

A. "Playing in the Dirt" presented by Tina Tuttle

To garden successfully you need to have a basic understanding of soil characteristics and know how to improve unfavorable conditions. Come 'play in the dirt' and discover what it takes to dig it!

B. "Planting": It's All About Timing presented by Larry Morris

Many seeds are sowed, but good seeds in good ground produce a lot of fruit. Larry will share his knowledge of when to plant and where to get it.

Permission is granted for you to make duplicate copies of the schedule and Registration Form. The registration fee of $25.00 includes lunch, all refreshments, and handouts.
